

Masters Program “Personology. Counseling Psychology and Psychotherapy”

Portfolio section	Details	Maximum score
Required documents
Interview	Interview results (if the score is below 35 for other criteria, the interview is scheduled at the discretion of the commission) The interview assesses readiness to master Russian-language disciplines, motivation to study in a master's program, and awareness in choosing a master's program. The interview is conducted remotely (call via instant messengers).	25
Motivation letter	Approximate structure of a motivation letter: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Why do I choose the master’s program “Counseling Psychology. Personology”? What do I want to learn in this program and from whom? - My scientific interests, possible directions of my future (or current) research. - Where do I see myself at the end of the program? The motivation letter must be written in Russian.	20
A copy of a document confirming the level of education	If the applicant has not yet received a bachelor's degree, he can attach an official copy of the complete list of disciplines already completed with grades	---
Diploma with honors		5
Documents that may be included in the portfolio
Letters of recommendation (from employer and/or	At least one letter must characterize the academic abilities and achievements of the applicant.	10

supervisor)	Letters of recommendation must be written in Russian or English and contain contact information of the recommending person.
Scientific publications, presentations at scientific seminars/conferences	Works in the field of psychology are rated as highly as possible, however, publications made in other scientific fields may be accepted for consideration.	25
Additional documents on education (on advanced training, courses, professional certificates, etc.)	Documents on advanced training, courses, professional certificates, etc. These may also be documents confirming practical experience in the field of psychology.	15